

9th Annual LEAD Global Issues Conference – Thursday, March 3

All workshop rooms are located in the De Anza Campus Center

This annual event provides an opportunity for more than 400 individual students to share their research and ideas. In line with De Anza's institutional core competencies, today is an opportunity for students to recognize their role as local, national and global citizens. We hope that our workshops present you with an opportunity to participate in the democratic process, practice respect for social and cultural diversity, appreciate the complexity of the physical world, and understand the significance of environmental sustainability and social justice.

All Day - 9:30-3:30 - be sure to visit:
